OUR OTTAWA LETTER.

THE FRANCHISE BILL.—SIR JOHN'S JOKE.—DOMINION CANALS.—MANHOOD SUFFRAGE. A NORTH-WEST CYCLONE FIZZLES OUT.—THE SENATE AND THE SCOTT ACT.—LORD MELGUND.—INTERESTING ITEMS FROM THE CAPITAL.

(From our Special Correspondent.)

OTTAWA, May 23rd, 1885.

THE FRANCHISE BILL.

We have certainly made progress in the franchise bill this week. In the first place the grave objection to which I have alluded in previous letters, of giving to the revising barrister unlimited power and not allowing any appeal from his decision, except upon points of law, has been done away with, by the government conceding an appeal on questions of fact. County court judges and superior court judges will perform the duties of revising barristers in all cases where they can be got to act, and from communications received by the government it is understood that these judges will perform the work with a very slight addition to their salary. As county court judges are now a final court of appeal there can be little objection to the preparation of the lists by them. From the fact that these gentlemen will perform the duties at a low salary, the complaint of the opposition that an enormous expense is about to be entailed on the country is entirely without foundation. Sir John this week also indicated the other changes the government propose to make in the bill. The property qualification in towns is to be reduced from $300 to $200, the income franchise from $400 to $300, and earnings are to be considered as income, thus indicating that the laborer shall have the franchise as well as the trader and others. Further the absence of mariners and fishermen in their calling, and of students in pursuit of education is to be reckoned as residence for the purpose of qualifying under the bill. These amendments go a long way in the direction of liberalizing the measure, and will undoubtedly make it more popular in the country. They completely cut the ground from under the feet of the opposition, who are beginning to discover that their obstruction to the bill is of no effect. The sooner they abandon their present policy the better it will be for them, as what they are now doing is only tending in the direction of making parliamentary institutions ridiculous.

SIR JOHN'S LITTLE JOKE.

The premier loves a joke as well as any man and he can clinch a point with an appropriate story in an admirable way. The other day Mr. Mills was good enough to intimate that the fight on the Franchise bill was a trial of physical endurance. Sir John in the course of one of his speeches referred to this statement, and said if it were true the government would have to put up with the trial as best they could. It reminded him of a story which he would repeat for the hon. member's edification. There was an Indian in Prince Edward county, who had murdered a farmer and his wife. He was caught in the act, there was no hope for him, and as he was certain to be convicted and to suffer the extreme penalty of the law, all the clergy were anxious to bring him to a sense of his true position. One day he said to his gaoler "Mr. McGuire, what kind of a place is hell?" "Well, John," he replied, "it is a place of torment where bad people go to." "Many people there?" "Oh yes, all the bad people go there." "Who was the first man there?" asked the Indian. "The devil" was the reply. "Is he there yet?" "Oh yes" said the gaoler. "Well then" said the Indian "if he can stand it, I can." You might have heard a pin drop so silent was every one during the time Sir John was speaking, but when he sat down a tremendous roar of laughter went up. Poor David Mills did not relish the pointed way in which his "trial of physical endurance" challenge was taken up.

THE CANALS OF CANADA.

A return brought down this week shows that up to the 1st July, 1867, $7,416,019 was spent on the Welland canal, connecting Lake Ontario with Lake Erie and $7,431,208 on St. Lawrence canals. Since confederation there has been spent on the Welland canal $13,094,322 and on the canals of the St. Lawrence $6,786,003. The cost of maintenance and repairs on Welland canal since confederation is $2,051,745, the total revenue being $3,548,098. The maintenance and repairs on the St. Lawrence canals was $1,897,096 and the revenue $1,616,735. The estimated cost of deepening and completing the St. Lawrence canals, giving 14 feet of water, is only $11,100,000, not a very large sum in view of Dominion expenditure in recent years.

PRISON-MADE GOODS.

Hardly a day passes but what the customs authorities make seizures of goods, the product of prison labor in the States. Evidently the government intend to see that their proposal of this session to protect the Canadian artisan is rigidly carried out, and due credit will doubtless be given them by the people of the Dominion. Some of the goods seized were imported before the change in the law took effect, and in such cases re-exportation has been permitted. It is intended, however, to compensate any prison made goods imported since the tariff resolution was passed.

PETER'S PROPOSITIONS.

One of the characters of the house is Hon. Peter Mitchell. He has a long-standing grudge against the Grand Trunk railway, and takes every opportunity to give the big corporation a dig in the ribs. Last session he moved for a return of the names of the stockholders in the company, and as it was not forthcoming at the opening of the present session he has not been remiss in asking for it since. Seemingly, the company are unwilling to supply the information, and the plea they have put in for delay is that it will have to be obtained from the office in London. The Hon. Peter says he is not going to stand any nonsense on the matter, and vows he will have Mr. Hickson brought to the bar of the house for contempt of the order of parliament. This week he has found time to leave his Grand Trunk hunt and take a hand in the discussion of the Franchise Bill. The amendment which he proposed on Wednesday was the most important of the week, outside the government proposals, the effect of it being that all persons over twenty one years of age, and who have resided in the district for the previous year and paid the taxes for the then current year, should have a vote for the election of members of parliament. This would give manhood suffrage pure and simple. An animated debate took place on it, but in the end the amendment was voted down by 80 to 37. Among those conservatives, besides Mr. Mitchell, who recorded themselves in its favor, were Messrs. Wallace, of York, Peterson, of Essex, and Campbell, of Victoria. Those who spoke against the amendment chiefly took the ground that the people of this country were not sufficiently educated up to the point of manhood suffrage. It is generally felt that the division by no means embodies the true sense of the house on the subject. The feeling in the province of Ontario in favor of the principle Mr. Mitchell enunciated is rapidly growing, and many years cannot pass over before manhood suffrage must be conceded. Once get Mr. Mitchell back into the cabinet, and the young fellows would get a chance then. Sir John would undoubtedly be strengthened if he gave Hon. Peter his old post of minister of marine and fisheries Mr. Mitchell is generally acknowledged to have run that department in a better manner than any minister who has occupied the position. He is, however, of too independent a turn of mind for the premier, and when the ministerial readjustment takes place I do not think he will get a portfolio.

PETITION MANUFACTURING.

The fiat has gone forth from the opposition managers to the faithful throughout the country that the franchise bill must be petitioned against. Accordingly this week we have had quite a number presented. Their effect has been considerably weakened, however, by the fact which has become known that the grits were paying to canvassers the munificent sum of fifteen cents for every hundred signatures they obtain. Whenever a petition has been presented this week it has not been unusual to hear a member call out "Fifteen cents," and the house would laugh hugely at the joke. The smallness of the pay given to the petition hawkers is a direct incentive to forgery, and on examining some of the petitions it is clearly apparent that this has taken place, whole columns of names appearing in the same handwriting. That the grits are thoroughly ashamed of these tactics is seen in the fact that many of the petitions have not been backed with the name of the member presenting them, and it is impossible to tell who has handed them in, because grit members are presenting them from their supporters in conservative constituencies. Another little incident which has caused some comment is the disrespectful way in which that belligerent grit member, Dr. Landerkin, has referred to some of the petitions. He pokes fun at them by calling them "allig tors," and evidently has not a very high o pinion of his constituents

A NORTHWEST CYCLONE.

Thursday morning it was whispered round the press room that the boys in the gallery would have a change from the easy times they have been enjoying recently as in the afternoon the Hon. Edward was going to fire off one of his thunderbolts at the government. Sure enough Mr. Blake did get up before the orders of the day were called and read us a carefully prepared essay in which he complained strongly because the government had not brought down the papers respecting the half-breeds. The speech, which was not a long one, fell flat on the house, and Mr. Blake's own supporters seemed to be disgusted, as they had been led to expect a great oration, and the fact that Mr. Blake had kept quiet for two or three weeks past was an additional evidence that something big was coming, as it was understood the opposition leader was then getting up his case. Sir John deftly referred to this in the opening sentence of his reply "and this is the result of the hon gentleman's protracted incubation.' The hatching had not been fruitful of any great result. Instead of giving notice of his speech, silently, covertly, like an Indian in ambush he had stolen from his rifle-pit and fired off his shotgun. The premier pointed out that missionaries, Hudson's Bay officers, settlers and others had given valuable information to the government and if their statements were brought down the writers would be marked men. Dumont was still at large, the Indians were still on the warpath, and while the rebellion was still in progress it would be cruelty and folly on the part of the government to put weapons into the hands of men still unsubdued. Sir John administered a fitting rebuke to the unpatriotic opposition leader, at the same time informing him that the government by no means shirked enquiry, but they were determined to protect the settlers in the Northwest.

THE SENATE AND THE SCOTT ACT.

The upper chamber is not a very popular body among the bulk of the Canadian people. Its emasculation of the Scott act, to which I referred two or three weeks ago, has had the tendency to make them still more unpopular, and has arrayed against them the strength of the temperance party. A crowded meeting was held in Ottawa this week to protest against the senate amendment permitting the sale of ale, beer, and light wines in counties where the Scott act has gone in force. The "lords" were denounced in unmeasured terms and the resolutions protesting against their action were couched in very strong language. If the senate does not back down with a quiet easy grace it will go hard with them, and will do more to bring them into disrepute than any other action they have previously taken. Temperance sentiment, these days, is very strong, and will stand no trifling with. The latest proposition to kill the act is an amendment by which in case of two-fifths, instead of one-half as now, of the votes polled appear against the petition it shall be held not carried, and that it shall require three-fifths instead of one-half, as now, of the votes polled to appear for the petition to enable the returning officer to declare the petition adopted.

LORD MELGUND.

The governor-general's military secretary, Lord Melgund, returned to Ottawa on Wednesday from the Northwest where he has been serving under Middleton. He speaks highly of the valor displayed by the Canadian volunteers, and thinks that the rebellion is now at an end. One point he makes clear respecting which there has been considerable controversy, viz, that Col! Otter made his dash on Poundmaker against orders. His instructions were to garrison Battleford, and it is said when the news of the fight at Cut Knife creek reached Middleton he was thunderstruck and could not believe it at first. Later accounts of the fight are not so coleur de rose, as were published at first. It is clear that Otter got himself into a bad box, and he may thank his lucky stars that he got out as well as he did.

MISCELLANEOUS NOTES.

Since the half-breed commission has been at work six half-breed heads of families have proved themselves entitled to receive money script, redeemable in land for $160, and 422 minors, $240 each.

Mr. Pope stated the other day, in answer to a question, that the government supplied the rails for the section of the C. P. R. in British Columbia. With respect to the right of the contractor to use them for the transport of traffic over the unballasted line there was nothing stated in the contract about it, although there had been considerable complaints on the point.

The following measures have yet to be legislated upon, so that it will be seen, even if the franchise bill were out of the way that the work before us is not light: The bankruptcy bill, the insurance bill, and the court of claims bill. The estimates must be passed, and the C. P. R. resolutions cannot longer be delayed. The company is badly in need of cash and the employees on the eastern section are anxiously looking for the pay car, which is two months behind time.

There was great rejoicing here when it became known that Poundmaker had sent back the 21 teamsters whom he had captured, and was anxious to make terms of peace. Everything points to a speedy termination of the Northwest troubles.

The government promises to transport the bodies of any volunteers who have fallen, to their old homes free of charge.

Sir John stated yesterday that the government were considering the advisability of making a grant of land to every volunteer who is serving in the Northwest.

J. P. DAVIES & Co.

California.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 1.—The city and county assessor's personal property tax roll, which was submitted to the board of supervisors to-day, showsa decrease in valuation from last year of over two and a half million dollars. This year's roll foots up, in round numbers, $56,600,000 and last year's $59,400,000. In a communication addressed to our supervisors, the assessor states that items of merchandise, shipping and estates in probate show the principal decrease. The past year has been an unusually dull one among the mercantile and business community, and the same causes still exist, viz. restricted business districts, caused by the opening of the Northern Pacific railroad cutting off the Oregon and the northern trade, and the southern Pacific, the Arizona trade and its tributaries. The item of shipping is greatly reduced, it being nearly $500,000 less than last year. The reduction is largely caused by the operation of the new law passed by the last legislature, by which we are required to divide assessment with other counties on vessels plying on waters of the bay—ferries, etc.

BRITAIN'S TORPEDO BOATS.

Until men begin to beat their swords into plow shares and their spears into pruning hooks there will always be a profound interest manifested in engines of war. Within the past fifteen years there has been added to every navy a torpedo service, and all British ships, at least, that go to sea are equipped with one or more of those terribly destructive weapons. The late unpleasantness between Great Britain and Russia gave an impetus to the production of new murderous engines of every description; and torpedoes were not left behind in the race towards perfection. There has just been handed over to the admiralty at Portsmouth by Thornycroft & Co., the largest and most destructive torpedo boat ever built. It is 113 feet long and 12 feet 6 inches in beam, and it will run at about twenty knots an hour. In the bows are two tubes, each to be charged with a Whitehead torpedo, and in the stern of the boat is another tube for another torpedo, which can be discharged in any direction while the vessel is going at full speed, and which, it is said will, with almost absolute certainty, hit a ship at 200 or 300 yards distance. It is also armed with a Nordenfeldt gun with nearly an all-around fire. There is another boat lying in the yard now which was built last year. The government has just ordered twenty torpedo boats of this firm, which is now working night and day on the shallow draft boats for Nile service. This firm are the patentees of a peculiar form of screw, giving great speed and especially well adapted for vessels of a light draught. This screw, together with well-laid lines and powerful small compound condensing engines, has afforded the means of turning out just the vessels for torpedo service—lilliputian in size and herculean in strength. The twenty boats ordered by the government are different from the one just delivered at Portsmouth. They are to be what is known as "spar torpedo" boats—frightful little desperadoes that rush right up to an enemy's vessel with a torpedo about twice the size of a man's hat, and with forty pounds of dynamite or gun-cotton inside it, stuck at the end of a spar thrust out from its bows. This spar is of steel in three pieces riveted together. It lies along the deck ordinarily, but on the approach of an enemy a windlass is brought into action, and a wire-rope is coiled and the pole thrust out over the bows and dipped down so as to hold the torpedo about twenty feet in advance of the bow and nine feet below the surface of the water. Any vessel unlucky enough to meet one of these little spitfires thus prepared has only to touch the torpedo, and, unless it be of exceptional construction, down it must pretty certainly go; or, if the impact is not actually made, the officer on board the torpedo boat can fire it at discretion by electricity by merely pressing a key. Of course it is not always that one of these little dare-devils can get at a ship at close quarters, and for torpedoes the charge of explosive is not great. If it were a heavier charge it would probably destroy the torpedo boat as well as the vessel attacked. But, says Mr. John Donaldson in a paper read by him before the British association some time ago, "It is a question whether it would not be a more prudent and certain course to use the star torpedo in circumstances like those which obtained at Alexandria the other day, when the attacking ships were so enveloped in smoke that the firing had to be suspended till the smoke cleared away. The midshipmen in the tops might have seen boats four hundred yards off"—the distance from which a Whitehead torpedo might have been launched at the vessel below the said midshipman—"and might have directed the machine gun fire upon them, but close in I question if he could, and it would be easier for the commanders of the torpedo boats to find an opening for a spar torpedo than to direct the course of a Whitehead in the mass of smoke with which they and the enemy would be surrounded." This may serve as an illustration of the purposes to which spar torpedoes may sometimes be put. Those just ordered by the government, it should be added, are to have on their decks, in addition to the spar, a Hotchkiss gun, capable of shooting out six explosive shells pretty nearly all round the compass These shells are designed to cripple or destroy the enemy's torpedo boats. They will pierce their bullet proof iron casing, and must be particularly nasty visitors inside one of these closely packed little craft The small spar-boats are not to be compared with the one sent out from Thornycroft & Co. or with another which is being built in the same yard. The London News gives the following description of the latter: It is a long, narrow craft, clad in an iron coating sufficiently thick to keep out bullets, though penetrable by the missiles of machine-guns such as the Nordenfeldt or Hotchkiss. It is divided throughout its length into seven or eight water-tight compartments, which in action would each be closely shut in from the rest of the vessel. If, therefore, a hole were made in any one of them, and it filled with water it would not sink the boat. In the engine-room there is an especially ingenious provision against any mishap involving the bursting of one of the steam pipes. As engineers, when the boat is in action, would be shut down close in their own water-tight compartment the bursting of a steam-pipe would involve the death of the men by a horrible process of scalding. In these Thornycroft boats there is a small iron door in the roof of the engine-room, which, under the increased pressure of the escaping steam, would blow open automatically. The torpedo-chamber is, of course, in the fore part of the vessel. There are two huge tubes lying parallel with the keel of the boat and connected with these is a deal of complicated machinery. Into these tubes the Whitehead torpedoes—frightful packages of explosives and machinery, some fourteen or fifteen inches in diameter and fourteen to nineteen inches long—are thrust and shut in, and then the air in the tubes is condensed till it has a pressure of about 100 atmospheres. Of course the torpedo is discharged by opening the front of the tube, when the outward rush of the condensed air carries the torpedo with it. The thing pursues a steady course under the water, propelled partly by the momentum imparted to it from the tube and partly by its own internal mechanism, working a screw. In 40 seconds it will travel 500 yards, carrying in the head of it a charge—if a full-sized torpedo—of some three-quarters of a hundred weight of gun-cotton or dynamite. It is doubtful whether anything afloat could stand the blast of one of these monsters of the deep.

CABLE NEWS.

LONDON, June 4.—The house of commons, which adjourned over the Whitsuntide holidays, resumed its sessions today. Childers, chancellor of the exchequer, in reply to a question by Sir Michael Hicks Beach, conservative, said he hoped to be able by to-morrow to make a statement to the house concerning the attitude of the government upon the question of an increase of duties which it has been proposed to place upon wines, spirits and beer.

Gladstone, replying to an enquiry made by Macoun, home rule member for Wicklow, said it was the intention of the government to establish regular diplomatic relations with the vatican.

In answer to interrogatories by Lord John Manners, conservative, Gladstone stated that negotiations between England and Russia concerning the delimitation of the Afghan frontier remained unconcluded.

In regard to the question of submitting the Anglo-Russian dispute to arbitrators Gladstone announced that he would answer interrogatories to-morrow.

NEW YORK, June 4.—David T. Murphy, senior member of the San Francisco dry goods house of Murphy, Grant & Co., died to day at the Windsor Hotel, in this city, aged fifty five years. He arrived here last Saturday, and was immediately prostrated with Bright's disease. He had great faith in the water of Lourdes, and believed if he could only have reached there his life would be prolonged. Against the wishesof his family physician, Geo. Chismore and his friends Mr. Murphy expressed his determination of visiting Lourdes. He cabled to his family in Europe his intentions and they came half way to meet him, arriving in this city last Sunday. Mr. Murphy was accompanied by Dr. Chismore, Archbishop Allemany and Joseph A. Donohue and family. He had to be carried into the hotel and remained in bed until last night about 9 o'clock when he expired. Deceased leaves a widow, three sons and four daughters. One of his daughters married Sir Charles Wolley in England a few years ago. His remains will be taken to San Francisco for interment on Friday.

HALIFAX, N. S., June 4. -At a largely attended meeting of the Halifax chamber of commerce yesterday, a resolution was adopted demanding that the Dominion government call upon the admiral of the British fleet to protect the Nova Scotian fishermen from the encroachments of American fishermen. Speeches were made, in which it was declared that friendly relations were desired with the people of the United States, but unless the Dominion government protected them against encroachments by Americans they would appeal to the Imperial government.

ENGLAND.

LONDON, June 4.—The Americans here express themselves well pleased with the warmth of the reception accorded to Minister Phelps. At the banquet last evening by the lord mayor, the mayor in proposing his health said that he gave to him a most cordial greeting, not only on behalf of our cousins in London, but of the people of England. The mayor then in words of praise spoke of Lowell and closed a graceful tribute to Mr. Lowell by characterizing him as "one whom all honor." Mr. Phelps was much applauded during the delivery of the response to his health.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., May 26 —John, alias Clutch, Donohue, the Fort Erie hotel keeper, arrested some weeks ago, was brought up before police magistrate Hill this afternoon to answer to three charges: First by Inspector Sweetman, of Toronto, for being connected with the robbery of the Peterboro' postoffice in July, 1884; second, by Mr. Goldstein, of Toronto, for being connected with the robbery of his store at Quebec in February, 1882, when a large quantity of meerschaum pipes were stolen; third, by Mr. Trotter, of Galt, for the robbery of his jewelry store in November, 1883, when over $6,000 worth of gold and silver watches, diamond rings, etc., were stolen. After hearing evidence, Magistrate Hill committed the prisoner for trial at Welland on all three charges.

MONTREAL, May 26 —Another of the Bank of Montreal clerks concerned in Bernard's defalcation has made restitution of the amount of his deficiency and has been dismissed from the service of the bank.

TORONTO, May 26.—A. Thornton Todd, a prominent member of the Toronto club, stumbled and fell on King street this afternoon and before he could regain his feet the wheel of an express wagon grazed his head, cutting his right ear completely off. Being well up in years, the shock has prostrated Mr Todd, and if erysipelas sets in the worst is feared.

EARL ROSEBERY'S MISSION.

The Alleged Price of Bismarck's Friendly Influence.

NEW YORK, May 27.—The Sun's London special says: Politicians are absorbed with the mission of Earl Rosebery to Germany and Holland. The most roseate accounts are given of the cordiality of Bismarck's greeting, and sanguine hopes are built upon Rosebery's conference with Count Schouvaloff and Count Von Hatzfeld. It has all along been assumed that if Bismarck chose he could compel peace between Russia and England upon terms which it would not dishonor the latter to accept, and the question as to whether he would do so hinged on other questions of whether he or the German Empire had anything to gain by such solution or anything to lose by allowing two nations to exhaust themselves in war. Up to the present time it has seemed as though Germany could have little interest in either side of the Anglo-Russian contention. Russia and England had vast schemes of colonization in view, and Germany had a great stake in preserving the equilibrium of Europe. But a quarrel in the middle of the wildest part of Asia promised to have little effect upon the balance of power.

Hence when it began to be rumored a few days ago that Bismarck proposed to mediate in the Anglo-Russian quarrel, the question immediately asked was, What is he to get? That question is now believed to be answered. There are good reasons for believing that Bismarck is eagerly desirous for the restoration of Ismail Pasha to the throne of Egypt, and that her consent to the arrangement, which means practically the extinction of English influence in Egypt, is the price which England is to pay for Germany's good offices with Russia. When Ismail Pasha was deposed at the instigation of England and France in 1879, Germany's interest in Oriental affairs was very small. During the past few years it has grown immensely. It is now the pet ambition of Bismarck and of the Crown Prince Frederick William to make Germany a great colonial power. Many of her colonization enterprises are located in Africa, and it would be to their advantage for Germany to have control of the most important country on that continent.

Bismarck's interest in Egyptian affairs has been strikingly shown within the past few weeks by the course of the German delegate to the Suez Canal conference and in many other ways. If Ismail Pasha is to be restored, it may be taken for granted that it will be as a tool of Bismarck, and it is said that he has already given pledges to that effect. Ismail himself has been known to be intriguing very actively for years past to secure his return to the throne of Egypt. Although nominally bankrupt by the surrender of all his property in part payment of the British bondholders, he has lived with his harem in regal splendor ever since his retirement, and has spent money like water in bribing newspapers and politicians throughout Europe to support his cause. The project of Ismail's restoration is said to have the approval of France, Austria and Italy. The French are impelled to support Bismarck's programme on general principles by their jealousy of English predominance in Egypt and by a belief that the interests of French bondholders would be at least as well protected by Germany as by England. Italy is said to have hesitated until England announced her intention of evacuating Egypt and coolly ignored Italy's claims by proposing that Turkey should henceforth garrison the country. It is further said that England is not unwilling to have Ismail restored, being disgusted with the weakness of Tewfik Pasha, the present khedive, and half suspicious of his fidelity

PRINCESS BEATRICE'S WEDDING.

Preparations of the Ceremony.

(London World)

The wedding of Princess Beatrice is to take place from Osborne in the parish church of Whippingham (Canon Prothero's ling) on Thursday, July 23rd. The whole affair is to be as quiet as possible; but everybody who has enjoyed much experience of court functions knows very well that a ceremony which is announced to be "quite private" and "perfectly quiet," has an uncontrollable tendency to develop into almost as big and troublesome a business as if it had been conducted on old state lines and strictly regulated by precedents. By way of compensating for the comparative absence of state, there is to be a full choral service, and the music is to be very elaborate. Mr. Waite Parratt, the organist of St. George's chapel, and musical instructor to the late Duke of Albany and to the Princesses Christian and Beatrice, has entire charge of this department, and it is probable that the boys of the choir of St. George's will go down to sing at the wedding. The organ of Whippingham church has been overhauled and strengthened, in order that it may prove equal to the demands which will be made upon it. The Archbishop of Canterbury and the Bishop of Winchester would officiate under ordinary circumstances, assisted, of course, by Canon Prothero, but the Queen at present inclines to the Dean of Windsor as principal officiating clergyman. The Queen will herself give the Princess away and Prince Henry is to be attended by his brother Prince Alexander of Bulgaria as "best man." The bridesmaids will be the nieces of the Princess—the daughter of the Prince of Wales, the Duke of Edinburgh and Princess Christian, and the Princess Irene of Hesse. The only great officers of the household present will be the Lord Steward and the Lord Chamberlain; and the Queen will be attended merely by the ladies and gentlemen then in waiting. Except royal personages, there will not be more than a dozen invited guests. The ceremony will take place early in the afternoon, and after a dejeuner at Osborne (which it is proposed to have in a tent on the lawn) the happy couple will drive over to Quarr Abbey, Lady Cochrane's charming place near Ryde, where they will stay for a week, going afterward for a cruise in the Victoria and Albert to finish the honeymoon.

THE SONG OF THE SHIRT.

How Women Eke Out a Semi-Subsistence in New York.

NEW YORK, May 26.—At the Brooklyn tabernacle, Sunday, Mr. Talmage spoke of female labor. In the course of his remarks he said: "Very long ago the needle was busy. In ancient times the toil was honored. But the needle has slain more than the sword. Some people thought by the invention of the sewing machine needle toil would virtually be alleviated. But alas! while the sewing machine has been a great advantage to the well-to do families, there are 10,000 women, notwithstanding the sewing machine, who are only able to make $2 or $3 a week. So that there are the absorbing questions for every man and woman who has any regard for the welfare of society. Is there no way to overcome the abasement of the needle? Sixty-five thousand sewing girls in this cluster of cities! Stand on a street corner at 6 or 7 o'clock in the morning; you see the working girls marching on. Some have had no breakfast, or are chewing the crusts left from the previous evening. Why don't they ride on the elevated road? Because they can't get the 10 cents. Why not on the surface road? Because they cannot raise 5 cents. Some try to make a living by flower-making, some by millinery, others by cigar-making, by beadmaking, by bookmaking, by labeling. But the larger number of them, and perhaps the most overworked and the least paid, are the sewing women. You see them marching on! Now, I am not speaking about abstractions. We had a woman who fainted in this church some time ago. When she was taken to the vestibule the physician said it was not medicine she wanted—it was something to eat. As she was coming to, she said almost incoherently: 'Eight cents; I almost got it done.' It was found out afterwards she was a sewing woman; that she made garments at 8 cents apiece, making only three a day. Three times 8 are 24. Hear that, men and women in comfortable homes, hear that! Don't some of you think it is time for someone to speak on these subjects? Let me say, young woman, start out with the idea that work is honorable and that there is something that you can do better than anyone else can do it. If after awhile you change your condition, you have the spirit of knowing you are able to take care of yourself."

INTOLERANT AUSTRIANS.

They Assail Inoffensive Jews.

VIENNA, June 2 —Serious anti-Jewish riots have again broken out. They were renewed yesterday with increased violence. The inciting cause at the present time is the excitement of the people growing out of the element agitation. The Carmelite Platz was filled with a howling mob, and free fights are frequent. The shops of Jews have been raided and ruined and their owners violently assaulted. Not less than forty persons were severely wounded. The police made many arrests, still they were powerless to repress the rioters, and were obliged to call for the aid of the military.

Other riots of violence and destructiveness have taken place in the Wienden and Nueben districts. In these districts the entire police force is on duty patrolling the streets and preventing the gathering of crowds.

The German Liberal party had three of its candidates defeated in Vienna, which is a loss of three seats in that one city alone. In Leopoldstad, Herr Schweder, the anti-Semitic candidate, was beaten out of sight. The majority against him is 6000 votes to 26.

FROM FARWELL.

Brisk Times at the New City.

A gentleman who was at Farwell a few days ago says the town contains about 50 houses of a better class than those that stood there before the fire. Business is very brisk. Three-fourths of the men there are selling liquors openly without a license, only two or three holding licenses from the government.

A stabbing scrape occurred in a dance-house on last Wednesday night; no one was killed. Five arrests were made and Mr. Sproat, S. M., committed the culprits to gaol which is a log hut.

Mr. Farwell is selling lots briskly and new buildings are going up every day.

The wagon road bridge, which is to run beneath the railway bridge, will be ready for use in ten days' time.

Since Mr. Sproat's arrival the people are more orderly and rows are less frequent.

The Columbia river steamboat is rushing in liquors and cigars from the American side on which there is no attempt made to collect duties.

OOLACHANS! OOLACHANS! FROM NAAS RIVER, IN 25, 50 AND 100 LB KEGS, AT SAUNDERS' GROCERY, JOHNSON STREET.

That Mr. F. Paine has opened his Barber Shop at the corner of Waddington alley and Johnson street, and will be most happy to meet all his old friends and acquaintances. *1m Mayor Dickenson stated at the recent council meeting that Mr. Homer was allowed $250 for services as delegate and that he returned $238 to the treasury. That is a delegate worth having.

That the Guardian pithily, if not wittily, says: The council has come to a wise decision in respect to the delegate business by appointing Mr. Homer; he will do all that can be done in the business, which is—nothing.

Yellowstone National Park.

Arrangements have been perfected for the season of 1885 in the way of excursions in the Yellowstone park. The O. R. & N. Co. have on sale excursion books to this favorite resort and return. These books include rail transportation Pullman sleeping car accommodation meals at eating stations and on the dining cars, stage fare and five days hotel accommodation in the park, and will be sold at the low rate of $120 from Portland. When it is considered that this rate includes the entire expense of the trip and provides the very best accommodations, at the same time relieving tourists of the trouble of looking after and making their own arrangements, its cheapness and advantage will be appreciated. This is a rare opportunity to visit the "Wonderland" and all who can should avail themselves of it. *

THE CHINESE REGULATION ACT.

The Defendants Fined $20.

The Magistrate's Judgment.

In the police court on Thursday the police magistrate, in the case of Chong Yuen and Wing Chong, charged with refusing to pay the $10 license under the Chinese Regulation Act, 1884, delivered the following judgment:

In this case I have had the great advantage of hearing ther attorney-general in support of the charge, and Mr. Richards, Q. C., for the defense. The charge is proved; and indeed the facts alleged in it are not denied; but Mr Richards claims the act is unconstitutional and void. So far as I know a defense of this character was never before raised in a police court.

The act was passed more than a year ago, and received the assent of the lieut.-governor acting under the advice of his responsible ministers, in Her Majesty's name. It has not been disallowed, and the time for disallowing it has expired. It would obviously be absurd for a police magistrate on his own responsibility to declare this or any other act duly passed to be unconstitutional, and refuse to act upon it; and I feel sure Mr. Richards recognizes this, although he was kind enough in the course of his argument to give me credit for perhaps more lagal knowledge than I can fairly claim; but he says that I am bound by the judgment of Mr. Justice Gray in 1878 declaring a somewhat similar act void. (Sing vs. McGuire, S. C., B. C., Sept. 1878) There is no judge in British Columbia whose decisions are entitled to more weight than Mr. Justice Gray's; but in the first place his judgment was not upon the act in question, nor upon one strictly identical with it; and in the next place since 1878 the decision of still higher courts than the supreme court of British Columbia, have, as the attorney-general has pointed out, thrown new light on the construction of the British North America Act; and it is possible that after reading those decisions, and particularly the case of Hodge vs. Regina (9 App Ca, 117), the learned judge might now come to a different conclusion.

It is my duty to administer the law as I find it—not as I think it ought to be. Leaving the grave questions that have been raised by Mr. Richards to be disposed of by a higher court, I therefore convict each of the defendants of the offense charged, and fine him $20, to be recovered, paid and applied according to law. EDWIN JOHNSON, P. M.

Mr. Richards, for the defence, called attention to the fact that every magistrate who acts under an illegal statute renders himself liable for damages.

Mr. Theo. Davie contended that no action could be taken against any magistrate administering the law unless it could be proven that he was acting with malice. There was a statute bearing on the question.

The magistrate said he would do his duty and take the risk of any action.

Following is the statute referred to:—"No action or suit shall be brought against any judge, stipendiary magistrate, justice of the peace or officer for any act or thing by him done under the supposed authority of a statute or statutory provision of the province, or of the Dominion of Canada, which statute or statutory provision was beyond the legislature of the province, or of the parliament of Canada as the case may be."—42 Vic., ch. 26, s. 1.

These were test cases and the Chinese will undoubtedly appeal to the higher courts to reverse the decision on the plea of unconstitutionality.

A Regular Boarder.

For the past couple of years a strongly-built Chinaman, named Low Tow, has been an inmate of the city prison, having served out various sentences for petty larceny. A six months' term expired this morning, and about 11 o'clock Low was admitted to freedom. He felt very strange at being again in the open air, and whether it was from this or the affection that he had for the city gaol and its obliging gaoler, he wandered down to Welch, Rithet's wharf, where the Spartan was being unloaded and walked away with a mat of rice, probably because he was hungry. The theft was noticed, the police sent for and at one o'clock, after enjoying two hours' liberty, Low was again safe within the walls of the city prison, which he evidently regards as his proper home. This chronic offender is the one for whom the gaol committee of the house recommended that a pile of stones be procured in order to give him hard work, as his present labor is mere pastime. An excuse he gave once for stealing a coat was that the wind blew it on his back as he was passing the store door. A severer punishment than the incarceration in the city gaol is necessary for these habitual offenders.

PAINTED RED.—Major Peters, editor of the Watseka (Illinois) Republican, and republican member of the legislature from Iroquois county, when assured of Logan's election, telegraphed the boys from Springfield: "Logan is elected. Paint my old home red." The boys took him at his word, and showing the message to Mrs. Peters, gained her consent, and forthwith the entire male population turned out, and procuring the brightest red paint imaginable, painted the house, barn and outhouses scarlet, roof, chimney and all, not sparing even the fences and tree trunks.

FOR THE SOUND.—The Olympian left for the Sound yesterday at 2:45. She was nearly half an hour in getting away from the wharf on account of a regular gale of wind blowing from the south-west. The Woodside tugged the bow around, while the stern hawser in the strain threatened to dislodge the piles it was fastened to. However, she at last got safely off and moved quickly out of the harbor.

CONTRABAND GOODS.—It is rumored that Major Dupont is on his way to the Columbia river to check the frauds on the internal revenue which have become extensive and glaring.

FROM THE SOUND.—The Olympian arrived from Tacoma yesterday morning with a large freight and a number of passengers. The damage caused by the late accident has been thoroughly repaired.

ANTI CHINESE MEETING.—A meeting of the anti-Chinese association will be held this evening at Harmony hall at 7½ o'clock. All are invited.

CAPSIZED AND SUNK.

Recent Accident to a Victoria Pleasure Yacht.

The Ada Frances, a well-known sloop yacht, hailing from James Bay, met with a slight accident on her last pleasure cruise up the coast. While she was lying in Uclulet harbor, driven in by the nasty sou'-east weather, she started one morning for the Indian agency, but never reached her destination. As she was trying to round one of the outlying reefs, which are promiscuously strewed around that portion of the isle, she had to make a tack in order to double the point. Having a head wind and tide against her, when she came up in the wind, her moveable portion of ballast shifted and put her down by the head, so that she wouldn't stay. Being on a lee shore, and not having room to wear everything got into confusion on board, and the only thing that could be heard above the din of the surf, was the officer's voice, giving the order to stand by to fend her off as she was drifting broadside on to the rocks. We could plainly see the fo'castle head watch handling boat hooks and oars with a vengeance, but she heeled over on her beam ends and half filled with water. Settling down she shipped another sea, and went down before the occupants had time to don their life-preservers. As she went out of sight we saw her crew striking in a Capt. Webb style, for the shore, distant about twenty-five yards, and one of the party was throwing water around like a Missis sippi stern wheeler, as he struggled to gain possession of his white tile which was floating off regardless of its wearer's fate. They reached the shore in safety although in a rather exhausted and drenched condition. If they had not all been good swimmers they would have fared worse, weighted down as they were with sea-boots and oil skins. However they gave a signal that all was well as they stood knee deep in periwinkles awaiting the rescuing party that was en route for the scene of the accident. When they came back in the boat and got half a gallon of strong coffee over their chests they felt none the worse for their drenching. The yacht was safely raised the next day by a wrecking party from a vessel that was lying in port. She arrived in Victoria a few days after none the worse for her adventure, although at the time of the capsizing we never expected to see her white wings again carrying her gay and festive party between James Bay and Esquimalt. SALT.

New Westminster.

(Columbian.)

A man was found a few days ago on the Yale road, this side of the Serpentine, in an exhausted and helpless condition. He was brought to Brownville, where he died. It is supposed he came from Washington Territory.

A man named Sullivan dropped dead at Maple Ridge on Sunday; and on Monday a horse that was dragging him to the grave fell dead.

THE Columbian points out that The Colonist "keeps very quiet" about the decrease in customs collections.—Times.

Not so with the Times, which never fails to trumpet, as far as its limited circulation will allow the blaring sound to reach, anything to the disadvantage of Victoria. The decrease is "nuts" to the Columbian; but why the Times should rejoice thereat is beyond our ken.

BURRARD INLET.—Like the rest of the lower country, Burrard Inlet is half asleep, with one eye just a little bit open, watching for the "boom." There are two ships at Hastings mill but none at Moodyville, and many of the logging camps are shut down. A ship will arrive at Moodyville for a load of lumber in a few days, which will brighten things a little.—Columbian.

ROBBERY.—At the Nanaimo police court on Monday last W. Wensten was charged with stealing $448 50 and a gold watch, chain and locket from Geo. C. LaRocque. The evidence seemed to point to the prisoner as the culprit, and he was committed to stand his trial at the assizes.

FIRE AT NANAIMO.—A house of ill repute at Nanaimo, kept by a couple of women named Pearl and Lilly White, was totally consumed yesterday morning. The keepers of the house were in Victoria at the time of the fire.

GOLDSTREAM QUARTZ.—A large box of specimens was brought in from the lode by Mr. Perry, C. E., last evening and deposited in the Island railway office. The width of the seam is two feet with the walls well defined. An assay will be made of the specimens.

THE FREIGHT REDUCTIONS.—Rates are reduced from Port Hammond to Spence's and affect only goods carried towards Cariboo. Rates to Kamloops and Savona remain as before. The reduction is said to have been made to stop teams from hauling goods.

FAINTED.—A woman named Pearl fell suddenly on her face on the C. P. N. wharf yesterday afternoon. She was carried to a carriage and taken to a friend's house on Broad street by a police officer.

THE INTERIOR.—Mr. P. C. Dunlevy reports copious rains and large crops in the vicinity of Soda creek, and all along the line of wagon-road. The health of the district is excellent.

CORPUS CHRISTI.—There were appropriate services at the R. C. Cathedral yesterday and last evening. An appropriate sermon was preached by His Grace the Archbishop.

HARVEY CREEK.—This old Cariboo creek is beginning to pay well. In one claim from 15 to 20 ounces to the set are being taken out.

NAVAL BALL.—The naval ball will take place this evening at the sail-loft, Dockyard. Dancing will commence at nine o'clock.

LIME.—The Slope brought several hundred barrels of lime from Saanich yesterday for Island railway work.

PORT TOWNSEND COLLECTORSHIP.—Herbert F. Beecher has been appointed collector of Puget Sound district.

COUNTY COURT.—There was a large list for yesterday, but they were nearly all amicably arranged outside.

City School Trustees.

A meeting of the board of school trustees was held last evening in the police courtroom, at eight o'clock.

Present—D. R. Harris, chairman; C. Hayward, secretary; and Messrs. Robertson, Braden, Fell and Chambers.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

PRIVILEGE.

Before going to business Mr. Braden rose to a point of privilege in regard to a letter published in the Times by Mr. Fell, calling the trustees "scamps," and attacking even the families of some of the trustees in a shameful manner. He would like some explanation from that gentleman in reference to who were the scamps, villains or vagabonds. He was not aware that he was seated among such a class. If there was a member of the board who was a scamp he should not be holding a seat there.

Mr. Fell—I am not here to discuss what appears in the public print.

Mr. Braden—Then he acknowledges it. The man who would attack another's character in that way is an assassin.

Mr. Fell—I protest against such a discussion.

Mr. Braden—Then I intend to discuss it and want an explanation.

Mr. Fell—Well, you must find out in some other way than through me.

Mr. Braden—I intend to have an explanation. The man who would represent goods as being something other than they are is a scamp. If he had bought two pounds of tea for instance, and instead of two he found afterwards he had only one and a half, then he would say the man who cheated him was a scamp. He would say again that the man who wrote that letter was an assassin, for he went behind the husband's back and attacked his wife through the press in order to injure him.

Mr. Fell—I think the man who would do that action is an assassin. I was attacked in that paper in a blackguardly and villainous manner, and replied to it in the same way. The man whom the caps fits may speak.

Mr. Chambers—I have been a member of the school board for many years and have done my best, and do not take that letter to myself.

Mr. Robertson had always looked on Mr. Fell as a privileged character and entitled to say what he liked. The cap did not fit him, and he did not care who it did. It would not annoy him. Whatever Mr Fell might say was entitled to little consideration.

Mr. Hayward said that no member of the board took this as a personal matter, but it was right, when a member of the board called his colleagues villains and scamps, which he wouldn't dare do at the meeting of the board, that he should have an opportunity to explain himself if he could. Mr. Braden took the proper course in asking such an explanation.

Mr. Fell—I suppose this has all been cut and dried before.

Mr. Hayward—We didn't go to Nanaimo for it.

Mr. Fell—Nor I. The man I am accused of seeing I only saw a very little. I will not give any explanation.

Mr. Robertson—I don't intend to take part in any squabble. It is the last time I will sit at the board, and I do not think we should do anything of a nature that would injure our reputation as a board.

Mr. Chambers was of a like opinion.

Mr. Braden thought the matter should be enquired into and Mr Fell stopped from writing such communications to the papers. Everybody in town was speaking about the scandalous and libelous language used.

Mr. Fell said the thing was not going to be stopped. He had been followed for fourteen years by the villainous slee that had printed article after article about him ever since he became a member of the board. It should be stopped and then he would.

Mr. Hayward said that probably it had better stop here. Mr. Fell's character was well known. There was scarcely a man, woman or child whom that man would say a good word for. His language was vile.

Mr. Fell—This language you are talking is vile. If the chairman does not call the speaker to order I must leave the room.

Mr. Hayward—You made a statement that there was not one woman in the Methodist church who was pure.

Mr. Fell—You state a falsehood.

Mr. Hayward—It can be proved—names can be furnished.

Mr. Fell—Mr. Chairman, are you going to let this matter go on?

Mr. Hayward—He has reviled the living and has cast calumny on the dead, even the memory of the Virgin Mary was not respected. He had in the speaker's hearing classed her with the residents of Broad street. He had also said he had more respect for a live dog than a dead Saviour. The man who would go around the street corners and state such things was certainly one of the villains and scoundrels he spoke of in his letter.

Mr. Fell—You lie.

Mr. Hayward—There are gentlemen at this board who can substantiate the truth of what I state.

Mr. Fell—I am not going to allow this to go on. I—

The Chairman—Gentlemen, let us proceed to business.

Mr. Hayward—I have the floor. I am discussing a question of privilege.

Mr. Fell—I will leave the room. It is an electioneering dodge.

The Chairman—I must rule this discussion out of order.

Mr. Fell—Sit down.

Mr. Hayward—I have the floor.

Mr. Harris—Let us proceed to business; this discussion must be closed.

Mr. Fell—It should never have been commenced—you should have stopped it before.

Mr. Hayward—Well, I will let the matter drop for the present. Mr. Fell has acknowledged that he can not make any explanation, and I will take the matter elsewhere.

COMMUNICATIONS.

From Mr. S. D. Pope, superintendent of education, acknowledging receipt of recommendation of the board that the $5,000 grant be expended in the construction of a separate high school, and that the same was receiving the attention of the government.

The secretary said in reference to the letter received from Mr. Haines asking for the return of his boy to the school, that he had now made a request that the matter be dropped.

This was acceded to, and the letters received and filed.

Mr. Chambers reported in reference to the St. Louis college affair that the action of the boys was merely brought to the attention of the board in a general way but not for publication. He had consulted with Mr. Halliday and the principal of the St. Louis college and it was found that only one boy had been suspected of doing the act, and this boy only attended the college about five days in the month. Mr. Chambers considered that the boys of St. Louis college were very respectable and that the college was a credit to the province.

A letter on the subject was read from Rev. J. F. Van Nevel, principal of St. Louis college, in reference to the letter from Mr. J. A. Halliday, principal of the boys school, complaining that the boys of the college were in the habit of cutting ropes, writing indecent language, etc., at the grounds of the public school. The principal had made an inquiry into the charges, but no proof was adduced to show that the charge made was correct. The letter also stated that it was known that the public school boys were in the habit of doing what the St. Louis college boys were accused of. This letter was a very lengthy one and went fully into the question, and generally took exception to the charge and stated that such an accusation should not have been made to the board, but to the principal of the St. Louis college.

On motion the communication was received and filed.

An account of J. P. Burgess for $6.50, for repairs was ordered to be paid.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The secretary reported the receipt of the monthly reports, which showed a considerable increase in general attendance at the schools.

The secretary also stated that he had received blank forms for the annual election of the school trustees. Also that it would be necessary to authorize the secretary to have certain places located for holding nominations for each ward.

The secretary was authorized to issue notices for the election.

Mr. Chambers moved, That all the teachers who require certificates for the next examination be granted them, and that the secretary be requested to draw them out. Seconded and carried.

Mr Chambers asked the date of Mr. Muir's appointment.

The secretary informed him that it was the 29th July, 1884.

A slight conversation resulted over the new school act, Mr. Chambers not understanding how he was to be elected, and Mr. Fell saying it was a humbug.

The secretary read a rough draft of the report to be presented at the annual meeting of the school trustees, which on motion was adopted as read.

The secretary said it would be necessary to vote an amount to the janitor for his services.

On motion it was left to the chairman to suitably reimburse the janitor.

Mr. Offerhaus verbally invited the members of the board to the annual picnic given by the pupils of the high school.

The board then went into committee on a charge made against a teacher by parents of cruel beating of pupils.

THE ROYAL CITY

Secures Mr. Homer as a Special Delegate

To Secure the Branch Railway.

At a meeting of the New Westminster city council, Coun. Hendry moved that the motion asking $1000 for a delegate to Montreal be laid over one week.

Coun Douglas took from his breast-pocket a document and handed it to the clerk. It was a resolution, which is as follows: "That the Mayor communicate with Mr. Homer, M. P., now at Ottawa, authorizing him to act as our special delegate in arranging the early commencement and building of the branch line of railway from this city, which is now under consideration with the Canadian Pacific railway syndicate." It was proposed by Coun Lord and seconded by Coun. Douglas.

Mr. Deane—To be consistent, I must vote against the resolution.

Mr. Hendry—I supposed the council had consented to let the matter stand over for a week. There was no necessity for great haste, and he wished to know what the people thought on the subject.

The mayor—I assure you, gentlemen, that several citizens have called on me to protest against against the paying of $1000 to a delegate, and I believe Mr. Henry would be astonished if he had an opportunity of hearing the people. Mr. Homer, on a former occasion, got $250 for expenses, and he returned $238 of that sum to the corporation. He discharged his duty well, and I believe it would be impossible to find a better or more trustworthy delegate than Mr. Homer.

Coun. Elliott knows Homer for twenty years; he is an honorable man, and will do all he can to serve the interests of the city and the province.

Mr. Shiles wished to have the original resolution read. It was read by the clerk and the councillor shook his head, as if he meant to say, "I'll vote against it now."

Mr. Hendry was not opposed to appointing Mr. Homer, but believed the consideration of the question should be adjourned for a week.

Mr. Deane would not object to Mr. Homer.

The Mayor.—The board of trade held a meeting this day, and their secretary informed me that they could not pay any part of the sum to be given to a delegate.

Lord's resolution, seconded by Douglas, was put and carried. For: Douglas, Elliott, Lord, Shiles and Calbick. Against: Hendry and Deane.

Couns. Douglas, Elliott and Calbick were appointed to draw up instructions for Mr. Homer.

Coun. Shiles gave notice that he would at next meeting propose that $250 be appropriated to pay the expenses of the delegate to Montreal.

Several bills were ordered to be paid and the council adjourned.

They Jumped at the Chance.

A friend repeated rather a good story to me which it seems was wont to be a stand by of Justice Porter, the well-known legal bon vivant of Dublin.

It was concerning a rare old Irish judge on the northeast circuit, who loved the hunting field vastly more than he did the stupid sleepy court room. His clerk was like minded, and a joyous pair they made.

One fine morning the clerk whispered the judge:

"Yer Honor, old Billy Duane's meets to-day at Ballykilmulugan, an' they've a fine fox dog."

"How many's in the docket?" asked the judge excitedly.

"Twenty, for rioting and breach of peace, yer honor."

"Tim," said the judge, "do you think you could get the first fellow to plead guilty without a jury trial, and me to let him off with a week in jail?"

"The easiest thing in the world," answered the faithful clerk.

"Make haste, then, and bring in the whole gang—and I say, Tim, tell Jerry to saddle the mare meanwhile."

The twenty fenians were brought into court—a defiant gang, nineteen of them prepared to fight counsel and jury to the bitter end.

The twentieth had been interviewed by the clerk.

He was called off by the clerk.

"Guilty, or not guilty of the crimes charged?" demanded the judge, with a propitious smile.

"Guilty, yer honor, God help me," said the crafty prisoner.

"Well," said the judge, glancing benevolently about the room, "I fancy I can let you off with a week."

The man thanked the judge and stepped down to the bailiff.

There was a terrific sensation among the other offenders. Why, none of them expected to get off with less than five years in limbo.

Here is a chance to profit by his honor's pleasant mood. One and all manifested an earnest desire to follow the example of their comrade and acknowledge their crimes in a batch.

"Do you all of you plead guilty?" demanded the judge eagerly.

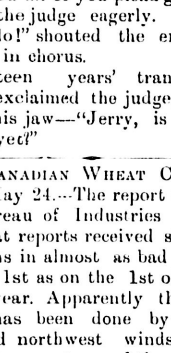

"We do!" shouted the enthusiastic nineteen in chorus.

"Fourteen years' transportation apiece," exclaimed the judge, with a click of his jaw—"Jerry, is that mare saddled yet?"

THE CANADIAN WHEAT CROP.—TORONTO, May 24.—The report of the Ontario Bureau of Industries for May states that reports received show that wheat was in almost as bad condition on April 1st as on the 1st of November last year. Apparently the greatest damage has been done by the hard frosts and northwest winds of April and low temperature of the first ten days of May, but the plants remain firmly rooted in a llsoils, and the opinion generally expressed is that, with favorable weather, speedy recovery will be made,

"STARTING A PAPER."—A hundred gentlemen, more or less, of Cincinnati, who thought they would try starting a newspaper in that city just for a flyer, have discovered the cost of that risky amusement. The paper failed, after sinking all its capital, and the stockholders are now liable for claims against it—their liabilities ranging from $100 to $110,000 each. These luxuries come high, but people do not think they must have them as much as they did once.—Detroit Free Press.
